Downtown Transportation Study Open House Today

Waco, Texas (April 10, 2014) – The public is invited to a Waco Downtown Transportation Study Open House meeting today, April 10, at the City's Multi-Purpose Facility at Paul Quinn Campus (1020 Elm Ave.). Two open houses will be offered:

- 12:00 p.m. to 1:30 p.m.; presentation at 12:15 p.m.
- 4:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.; presentation at 5:00 p.m.

What is the Waco Downtown Transportation Study?

The City of Waco is conducting a Downtown Transportation Study to evaluate existing transportation service, and to enhance connectivity to/from major activity centers in the Greater Downtown Waco area.

Multiple partners within Waco and the surrounding communities recognize downtown will continue to be a primary activity center in the region, and support this planning effort to increase livability, connectivity, and growth.

The consultant team, CDM Smith and RJRivera, will conduct a thorough analysis of existing transportation operations and conditions, identify potential growth opportunities, and provide recommendations that improve mobility within Greater Downtown Waco.

For further information, please call Waco Transit at 750-1900.
