Zoo Tunes

Waco, Texas - The Waco Symphony Council and the Cameron Park Zoo will present the 4th annual "Zoo Tunes!" this Sunday, November 6th from 12:30 until 4:30 PM in the Meadows of the Cameron Park Zoo. In the past years, "Zoo Tunes!" has won both State and National awards as a community event.

The Baylor Symphony Orchestra and Waco Symphony Youth Orchestra will perform in the newly built zoo outdoor pavilion. The Waco Symphony Youth Orchestra is made up of talented area middle and high schools students.

In addition, there will be inflatables, bouncers, slides, and face painting for the kids. A popular activity is the "Instrument Petting Zoo" sponsored by Backstage Pass Music Center of Waco. They will have a collection of instruments for the attendees to try out and play themselves.

Don't forget your blankets and chairs. They can be left at the "Valet Chair Park" so that you may bring your lawn chairs for the concert, and then leave them safe and attended while you tour the zoo.

Over 100 volunteers from the Waco Symphony Council, the Waco Symphony Belles & Brass, and the Cameron Park Zoo volunteer their time to assist at this event.

This event is free with regular zoo admission. Bring the kids, grandkids, friends, lawn chairs, and blankets for a wonderful family time! Unfortunately, in case of bad weather, the event will be cancelled and not rescheduled.
