Dr. Ginn Named Director of Development for the Texas Ranger Hall of Fame & Museum

WACO, TEXAS (August 2, 2022) – Dr. Jody Edward Ginn was named Director of Development for the Texas Ranger Hall of Fame & Museum.

Dr. Jody Edward Ginn is a former law enforcement investigator/administrator and U.S. Army veteran who has worked as a multi-media consultant to museums, filmmakers, and educational institutions/non-profits, and as an adjunct professor of history, for over 20 years.

As a museum consultant and executive, Dr. Ginn has raised funds for historical projects – from traveling museum exhibits to educational films to full museum development projects – for over 20 years. Notably, Dr. Ginn built a network of development partners, donor contacts, and consultants while creating a comprehensive strategic institutional plan for the Texas Rangers Heritage Center (TRHC) in Fredericksburg. Dr. Ginn brings this network of government, business, financial, and development professionals and contacts to the Texas Rangers Hall of Fame and Museum redevelopment project.

Dr. Ginn’s connections to the Texas Rangers date back almost two centuries when his Austin colonist Texas ancestors served as ‘Home Guard’ Rangers during the Civil War. However, his research into the career of his great-granduncle, Dan Hines – one of the first DPS Texas Rangers – drew him into the world of professional Texas Rangers history. In addition to his historical connections to the Texas Rangers, Dr. Ginn also has strong professional ties to them, having trained under and worked with many current and former Texas Rangers during his law enforcement career.

The Texas Rangers Hall of Fame and Museum is excited to have Dr. Ginn join the team and to bring his knowledge and talent to the department.
