Storm Spotter Training Program Cancelled

Due to ongoing health and safety concerns, a joint decision was made to CANCEL the McLennan County SKYWARN class that was scheduled for Monday, March 16th at Baylor University since the campus extended their spring break and is limiting activities on campus. The plan is to reschedule this class in the late Summer or Fall 2020 months, before the secondary peak severe weather season in the Fall.

We apologize for the inconvenience this cancellation may cause, but appreciate your understanding. The National Weather Service, Waco-McLennan County Emergency Management, and local broadcast stations still appreciate any storm reports that are shared during severe weather events in the area. For information on how to report severe weather to the National Weather Service, visit: <https://www.weather.gov/fwd/skywarn-report>

Despite the cancellation, we encourage all residents of McLennan County and surrounding areas to remain weather aware this Spring and have multiple ways to receive the latest hazardous weather updates.
