Water Conservation Requested by City for China Spring Area

Waco, Texas (July 20, 2018) – The City of Waco is making a request for water conservation and reduction of irrigation in the China Spring area. (See attached map)

All water customers should be mindful of usage and remember that irrigating outdoors during the daytime hours is an inefficient and often wasteful use of water.

Conserving now will help to avoid potential mandatory water restrictions.

Due to the extreme heat, water demand has drastically increased over the past week, particularly in the China Spring area, along China Spring Rd. and North River Crossing / FM 185.

The city anticipates that a 48 hour relief in water demand will allow storage tanks to fully recover.

Conservation of water is always important, particularly during the hot summer months, to help ensure an adequate supply is available for everyone. For water conservation tips and ideas, visit www.wacowater.com
